

The Knife Not Needed.

A MASSACHUSETTS TOWN
HEARS AND WONDERS.

What a Miracle was There! Twisted
Limbs and a Crooked Neck
Straightened.

Over in the town of Wrentham, Mass., everyone is agog with excitement. A child who had been physically deformed for four years, and who was the object of the pity of the whole town, has had her limbs straightened out, her head again made erect by the straightening of her neck, and is running about town now with the freedom and abandon of any child.

Mary S. Fuller is the name of the little cripple. Many of our readers will remember her. She is but a child of 8 years, and has spent the past four years in bed, hopelessly crippled. Rheumatism for years ago attacked the nerves and cords of her lower limbs and neck, so that the former were drawn all out of shape and twisted and bent backwards in a pitiable manner; and the legs of the latter were so tightened on one side as to draw her head down on her shoulder. Her arms, too, were helpless, and neighbors' hearts bled at the little one's suffering. The progress of the disease reduced her to a skeleton, and the poor mother has almost given her own life for that of the child, in her untiring watching at the little one's bedside. Four years of waiting! Four years of waiting! and at last the child began to stand, her cords relaxed, her nervous system gathered strength and power, and to-day, as stated above, it is running about the town a vigorous and happy child. Wrentham rejoices, physicians applaud, and new methods in nerve treatments have been successfully vindicated. Formerly the surgeon would have been called on in this case to straighten the limbs by "cutting so far as possible, and to this end," and as a result, which assist nature, or, lying to the weak, and parts the chemical properties they need. For instance, in the above case, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People were used, and effected the cure easily and naturally.

The mother of the child said: "She had been given up by four doctors, who were certain that they could not cure her. Why she couldn't open her mouth, and I actually had to force the food into it. Her mouth was all sore, and, oh dear, what a looking child she was, and such a care! Nobody but myself knows what a trial we both have been through, for she was too young to realize it. If my statement will do anybody any good I shall be glad to have it published, and if those who read it will only come to me, if they are skeptical, I can convince them in very little time that I know what I am talking about. People around here say it was a miracle, and I believe it was." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for 60c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

Prisoners Have Not Spoken a Word
For Months.

Another Alexander Carr is feigning insanity is a question which the officials of the county jail at Atlanta, Ga., where the man is confined under sentence of death, are unable to answer, says the New York Journal.

With a great mass of tangled and matted black hair falling over his neck and face and hiding his downcast countenance from sight, Carr seems to be as much animal as human. He eats ravenously, snatching at his food and eating it much as an animal would do. He furnishes the strongest problem ever presented by a prisoner in the county jail. Carr is an enigma. He has spoken to no one in 11 months.

Alexander Carr is a near approach to a wild hog in his manner of life in jail. He waits for his food to be left on a box, and when his visitor has gone he pours it out on the floor and ravenously eats it, passing the life necessity to his mouth with two long, bony hands. Sometimes he throws the food in a corner of his cell, and, after letting it remain there awhile, crawls to the victuals and eats them. It is always with his head nearly on his breast that he eats his food, and sitting on the edge of his bunk he looks like a hunchback. His tall figure doubles nearly up and his head of hair is a mass of tangled black locks.

The thrice tried man—twice on an issue of sanity, once for murder—visited three times a week by his father, but he never speaks or utters a sound or word to him. To his parent he shows no sign of recognition, and appears to regard him in no manner different from anyone else. The troubled parent carries food and necessities to his condemned son at every visit and renders such little services as he thinks might add to the better care of the cell; he no longer hopes to comfort his boy.

Carr was committed to the Fulton county jail August 25, 1894. Since that time except at the first trial he has almost constantly passed his time on his bunk. For a time after his incarceration began he talked freely and intelligently, and showed no signs of the approaching lapse into his present condition. He was cheerful and apparently indifferent to his confinement for a month or two, but day after day he began to realize his predicament and became less talkative and much less buoyant and high spirited.

At that time his mind was clear, and he looked one in the face instead of gazing downward as now. It was not until he had been placed on trial for his life and convicted that the murderer of Capt. King began to grow despondent and silent. Day by day something stole over him which took from him the cheer of existence, and when time brought him face to face with the certainty of punishment it was then that the world he appeared in the same condition that he now lies in a filthy cell.

THOROUGHLY MORTGAGED.

Security Which a Shrewd Farmer Gave for a Debt.

"There are tricks in all trades but ours," remarked the carpenter, "and we sometimes drive screws with a hammer." A few days ago, not more than a thousand miles from Lake county, a collector called on a farmer for the payment of a note secured by a chattel mortgage. The farmer was obtuse and gave no satisfaction that he ever could pay the note. Finally the collector said: "Well, I'll have to take the eleven cows named in the mortgage."

"Oh, no; you haven't got a mortgage on eleven cows on this farm."

"Why, yes, I have." And the collector pulled out a copy of the mortgage and read as follows:

"One red and white cow, one cow spotted red and white, one red cow with white spots, one cow with white spot in forehead, one red cow with two white hind feet, one white cow with red spots on side, one white and red cow, one red cow with two white fore feet, one red cow with white spots on hips, one white cow spotted with red." Now, how do you like that?" continued the collector.

"Oh, that's all right; I see you've got eleven mortgages on my old red and white cow. There she is down there in the pasture. The boys will go down and help you catch her."—Vermilion (Ind.) Freeman.

—Writing of the Sun, Sir Robert Ball says: "For every acre on the surface of our globe there are more than 10,000 acres on the surface of the great luminary. Every portion of this illimitable desert of flame is pouring forth torrents of heat. It has, indeed, been estimated that if the heat which is incessantly flowing through any single square foot of the sun's exterior could be collected and applied beneath the boilers of an Atlantic liner it would suffice to produce steam enough to sustain in continuous movement those engines of 20,000 horse power which enable a superb ship to break the record between Ireland and America."

Woman's Beauty No Secret

It lies in the care she takes, expelling from the system the poisonous impurities which cause the terrible chronic diseases peculiar to women. The aches, pains, blues, nervous headaches, loss of sleep and appetite, salow complexion, etc., which accompany all female troubles are caused by kidney poison and a failure of the delicate organs of womanhood to perform their natural function. As a certain remedy for diseases peculiar to females and for all diseases of the kidneys and bladder, Wintersmith's Buchu has had thirty years' success. Quality of Butter of the Breeds in the World's Fair Tests.

All the butter made in the Chicago tests was scored by experts, appointed by Chief Buchanan, who were practical men, standing high in their calling. A sample of the butter was taken each day by the butter-maker. This butter was scored about once a week. None of the judges scoring same had any means of knowing what butter they were judging. When the scores were made up they were sent to Chief Buchanan, who, after detaching the names of the scorers, sent the scores to the Testing Committee for entry and record. It was an impossibility for the judges to know what butter they were scoring, except such knowledge as they would obtain of the general characteristic of the breeds. The scale of points was as follows: Flavor, 55; grain, 25; solidity, 10; color, 10. The prices allowed for the butter were as follows:

That scoring from	25c. per lb.
75 to 80 points,	30c. "
80 " 85 "	35c. "
85 " 90 "	40c. "
90 " 95 "	45c. "
95 " 100 "	45c. "

Those who have followed these tests are aware that the Jerseys won at every point—in quantity of milk, quantity of solids other than butter fat, quantity of butter, quantity of cheese, and in net profit. But it is, an important matter to determine which of the breeds produced the highest quality of butter. Inasmuch as that scoring highest was rated at the highest price, the value per pound of butter fixed under the scoring before referred to will determine the relative merits of the butter of the various breeds. An examination of the average price per pound of the butter in the 90 and 30 days' tests will show that the Jersey butter was the highest in quality in both, the average price per pound for the three breeds being as follows: In the 90 days' test—Jerseys, 40 88-100c; Guernseys, 40 83-100c; Short Horns, 40c. In the 30 days' test—Jerseys, 46 5-100c; Guernseys, 45 53-100c; Short Horns, 45 66-100c. These figures prove most conclusively that the Jersey butter was that possessing the highest quality.

With the March number The Forum begins a new volume and enters upon its second decade. The number—an uncommonly interesting one—opens with a noteworthy article on "Family Life in America," by the distinguished French novelist and critic Th. Bentzon (Mme. Blanc), author of "The Condition of Women in the United States." Mme. Blanc draws very interesting and instructive comparison between French and American family life, and frankly criticizes certain phases of American civilization which came under her observation while in this country—such as the almost insolent triumph of youth, the boldly advertised domination of woman, the effacement of parents and their lack of authority over their children, the liberty of the American girl and her contempt of marriage, flirtation, etc., and she sympathizes with the American father who works in harness at home, while his family passes years in Europe leading that purely worldly life which the American colony in Paris exhibits, under the pretext that traveling develops the young people. Nevertheless, with certain reservations, which she mentions in her article, Mme. Blanc declares that she shall be delighted to see French family life become more and more Americanized.

Thus The Forum in eleven timely and interesting essays presents the best thought of the day on all subjects uppermost in the public mind—the Nicaragua Canal, the Manitoba Schools Questions, the Boers, European politics, the Anglo-American difficulty, municipal reform, etc.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quick nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quick nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHLOE, Conway, Ark.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
